PRODUCT PUBLICITY RELEASE

Homeopathic products are safe alternatives for children

Manufacturers of children's cold medications are struggling with the with potential overdose concerns recently announced by the FDA for cough suppressants, decongestants and antihistamines.

Homeopathic medicines offer a safe alternative to treat children's cold symptoms. Their formulas consist of all natural ingredients and do not contain any of the products currently under question for potential misuse. Rather than suppressing or stimulating symptoms, homeopathic products work with the body to allow it to rebalance itself. There is no risk of overdosing or potential negative interaction with another drug.

Homeolab USA offers several homeopathic remedies to fight the effects of colds and flu in both children and adults. They are manufactured according to the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States (HPUS).

Homeolab USA offers these cold relief products. All are suitable for children age 2 and older:

- ❖ Naturcoksinum Pellets Compare to NBE Oscilloccinum®
- ❖ Cough & Cold Relief Pellets
